Justice John Given Most Cordial Reception in Court.

THE STREET CAR CASES

weveral Comes Up; One Continued, Accused in One Instance Put Under Heavy Bond-Other Cases Disposed Of.

Justice John was on the bench yesterday morning and dispensed justice with the ease and grace which only comes with long practice and a native ability.

His Honor was greeted with three prolonged cheers when he entered the courtroom from his office at 9:30 o'clock. The entire assemblage, not to say august assemblage, rose as one man, and swinging hats and handkerchiefs in the air shouted lustily to the honor of the chief magistrate of the court of justice as distinguished from the usual court of law.

Justice John was easy on the boys yesterday, and where there was a chance to let the wayward off because of the doubt in their favor, he did so.

VERY DIFFERENT TALES.

One of the first cases called, and one of importance, was that of W. B. White, a conductor on the Seventeenth Street line, who was charged with threatening to shoot among a crowd of employes at the Chesapeake and Ohlo shops, which are located at the northern terminal of the Chesapeake and Ohio shops, which are located at the northern terminal of the Seventeenth Street line.

The case was gone into to some extent. The accused street car man was represented by Captain A. B. Guigon, for the company. The shop men claim that they did nothing at all, but the conductor got off his car and went among them pointing a pistol. The street car man says he was cursed and abused by the shop men and only used his ticket punch as if it were a pistol. The foreman of the shop apparently was a necessary witness, so the case went over until to-day.

Comedians and Chorus Girls Let Out Without T raveling Expenses.

The Giffen Stock Company, which filled an engagement of three weeks' duration at the Lafayette Theatre, stranded here last Saturday night, and as a result the local Rialto is overrun with chorus girls and comedians, walting for the appearance of some good angel to open a way for them to reach their homes, says yesterday's Washington Post. Several of the women members of the show called at police headquarters yesterday afternoon, and were told to return this morning. Meanwhile, their situation is becoming desperate, and one girl condided to a Post reporter yesterday the fact that she had not eaten anything for two days. ance of some good angel to open a way she had not eaten anything for two days.

The Giffen Stock Company made its appearance in this city three weeks ago. The shows at the Lafayette were well attended for a time in spite of the hot weather, as the performances were of the best. Toward the latter part of the engagement the business fell off, the performers could not secure their salaries. For the last two weeks they worked without their money forthcoming, and last Tuesday night Lewis Hoper and Charlie Gibbons, two of the leading members of the company, refused to go on. Miss Tannehill closed with the company Friday night, Others quit the next morning, and when the curtain went up for the performance Saturday afternoon only a remnant of the company appeared to take their parts.

Saturday night each member of the company was handed $3.15 by the manager, and told that the amount was all that could be paid them on their two weeks' salary. Miss Deyo and other leading members of the company left the city yesterday morning, but the minor people, including the chorus workers, are still here, and the outlook is pretty bad for them.

JUDGE INGRAM DECIDES CASE

Sustains Demurrer in Suit Against F. W. Woolworth & Co. by Customer.

Co. by Customer.

A question of considerable importance to merchants, street railway companies and railroads and to all other persons upon whose premises crowds are likely to gather, was decided yesterday in the Law and Equity Court of the city of Richmond by His Homer, Judge John H. Ingram, sitting for Judge E. C. Minor. The point at Issue was, that a customer of Frank W. Woolworth's store, the Five and Ten Cent Store, on Broad Street, while attending a special sale, was knocked down and trampled upon by other customers, by which means her leg was broken and other bruises were inflicted upon her.

For these injudes the plantiff sued for $5,000. The continues of the declaration, of assigned as reasons for its demandary of the declaration, of a store is not responsible for an injury inflicted upon a customer by other customers in his store when it does not appear that the customers causing the injury are disorderly or improper persons to be on the premises.

"Second. The keeper of a store, having no control or authority over orderly customers within his store, is not responsible for their acts.

"Third. There is no causal connection between a store crowded with customers and the injury complained of in this declaration, and if the keeper of a store is negligent in allowing a large crowd to remote to be held in law as the cause of the injury complained of."

The case consumed the attention of the law and Equity Court all day Monday on the demurrer.

The Hon. Conway R. Sands and Mr. P. A. L. Smith argued for the plaintiff and Mr. P. H. C. Cabell argued for the defendant.

At the conclusion of a long and brilliant argument on both sides, the court announced that it would take time to consider the questions presented by the demurring the court announced that the morning the court announced the court

PORTSMOUTH, ENG., July 14.—Capain Hemphill, of the United States flagthip Kearsarge, received instructions to to clean the warship's propellers, fill her bunkers with the best coal, and go at the highest speed, with natural draft, to Frenchman's Bay, Maine. This is the first occasion in time of peace that an American battleship has been subjected to such a severe test. It recalls a similar voyage of the battleship Oregon, during the war with Spain. Divers ommenced work this morning on cleaning the propellers, and 1,500 tons of oal will be delivered to-morrow. Captain Hemphill will follow the great circle

He was received by Rear Admiral Cotton and Captain Hemphili, and under the latter's guidance inspected the ship. The Kearsarge returned the courtosies extended to the United States squadron here by a reception this afternoon. The ship was elaborately dressed with flags, and the quarter deck was covered with a canopy made of the flags of all nations. Admiral Cotton, Captain Hemphill and the other American captains received the guests. There was dancing on the superstructure deck.

The Kearsarge left the jetty to-night and anchored in midstream, preparatory to coaling to-morrow.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Keen Interest is felt in naval circles in the result of the trans-Atlantic cruise of the Kearsarge, which leaves Portsmouth, England, to-morrow, via the Great Northern route for Frenchman's Bay, coast of Maine. Captain Hemphill has been directed to make the cruise a test of the Kearsarge's long cruising speed, and it is expected probably the highest record for an American battleship of the Kearsarge's type will be established on this trip.

It is estimated that 1.500 tons of coal will bring the Kearsarge across at 1345 knots an hour within ten days, provided good weather is encountered.

FOR MANOLEY

Excellent Character.

A new and important witness in the Manoley case was discovered yesterday in the person of Mrs. Benjamin Franklin Morehead, No. 308 South Calhoun Street, who has known Manoley since childhood, says yesterday's Baltimore American. Although the detectives and police department of this city has been endeavoring to ignore the statement of Frank Manoley that he shot and killed his wife while dreaming last Thursday morning at their home, on West Hamburg Street, and also that the revolver that he used was one which he had had for two years, having purchased it in Wilmington, Del., a number of witnesses who have known Manoley for a long time have been faund, and state that Manoley possessed the pis-Manoley for a long time have been leght, and state that Manoley possessed the pistol long before July 3, the time the detectives are trying to prove that he purchased it at the store of "Little" Joe Wiesenfeld's, Howard and Baltimore

Mrs. Morehead was seen at her home by a representative of The American last night, and made the following statement:

"I have known Mr. Manoley since we were both children, having been born in the same neighborhood and grew up as children together. I never knew Frank to read a novel, and why some one reported that he was an incessant reader of trashy literature I cannot understand. Frank was very fond of his Bible, and read that a great deal, and while yet a young man became a Christian and joined the church. And as to, the Feport that he was a cigarette flend, that I can truthfully say is absolutely incorrect, for when young I was with him a great deal, and when I got married and moved to this city it was but a short time before Frank came to this city to work and and when i got limited and when it was but a short time before Frank came to this city to work and boarded with me at No. 419 North Eutaw Street. I think it was in May, 1899, that he came to this city, and the following July he returned to Richmond, got married, and, coming to this city, rented rooms from me. It was the latter part of that summer after his marriage that Frank at times seemed quite ill and in fits of despondency remarked that he wished he were dead and out of the way. "He frequently said he believed he would jump off the roof and end it all. These remarks caused his wife and myself both so much anxiety that we often watched him lest he should injure himself.

watched him lest he should injure himself.

"The following winter Frank went to Wilmington, Del., and sent for his wife in a few weeks. After their return to this city they took rooms with me again at No. 32 North Howard Street, but I soon moved to my present address. Before I moved, however, Mrs. Manoley stid to me one day that she made Frank get her a revolver while in Wilmington, as she had to remain in the house so much at night alone. Mr. and Mrs. Manoley then lived a short time with Mrs. Augustus Parker, on West Twenty-first Street, before they moved to their last home, on Hamburg Street."

Mrs. Morehead said that Manoley and his wife both Gequently visited her home, and both were of unusually sweet disposition, except that Manoley suffered a great deal from nervousness.
